The Moment

foreward...

The Moment. Your Moment. My Moment. Our Moment.

Moments are what life is made of. It's the little things we remember whether we're looking back at the entire school year, our first week, or the one moment when it finally clicked and everything started to make sense. We should never get so caught up with the big things that we miss the little ones. It's the little things, the brief ever-fleeting Moments that draw us together and pull us apart. They make us cry and laugh and wonder why or why not. It is essential for us to slow down and stop thinking, stop talking, stop arguing, and just enjoy the Moments God has given us, because in the end they're all we have.

Camille Clarke

What's your Moment?

Chaplain James Humphreys: His Legacy, Life, and Love of God

I affectionately knew him as "Chap." Chaplain James Humphreys that is. To so many people he represented so many things . . . but to me he was the splendid epitome of God's chosen who, indeed, faithfully live their life calling. He was a man of excellence, of solid life principle who will always be missed.

He was a man of family, his ministry, and I faintly remember when he was for the Christian Fellowship in Chicago. I remember, back in October 2004, when I was just beginning my year-long work study as a Chaplain's Assistant, his son Austin told me that although Chap had more than one gray hair and had picked up few a few pounds throughout the years (wink), he would still dribble and drop three-pointers like his name was engraved on the court.

We remember for his bright, bubbly sporadic "Hallelujahs" his constant reference to boldness in calling everything in life by its rightful name. We can all be at peace in knowing a good man was upon this earth and shall be seen again clothed in Heavenly glory with the King of the Universe. Chaplain Humphreys left behind a powerful, extraordinarily faithful woman of God - Renee Humphreys, who exudes marvelous strength and resilience. His two boys, Austin and Ryan, were so blessed to have a father who left behind such a noble legacy.

Chaplain Humphreys . . . what a refreshing character, what a man of God. I'll see him in Heaven.

As soon as I entered the church tonight, I felt the presence of the spirit. The spiritual blessing that I receive at every A.Y. impacts my life in such a positive way that I keep coming back for more. I saw all my friends and classmates tonight - from dressed up to dressed down, from energetic to no sound, from laughter to tears, from singing to prayers, from waving hands to clapping hands - it was all at A.Y. Gathering together with the student body for worship and hearing the combined voices of the praise team brings to mind how we will one day worship God in heaven.

-Sometimes in Quiet Moments-

Sometimes I pray in moments of happiness
Just to thank You for Your grace
Sometimes my moments of happiness
Drizzle down into moments of despair
And I pray for strength
To make it to the next challenge
Sometimes my despair frustrates me
And anger is born red and hot
So I pray for help with the pain
From burning tears tearing through my cheeks
Sometimes my anger is cooled
Its fierce flame quenched by hope
Sometimes I break down - kneel down
And I pray thanking You for hope
For true gifts of companionship
For true gifts of family
At times my moments of happiness turn to My moments of despair turn to My moments of anger turn to
My moments of hope turn into life
Sometimes then I turn and see You
I see You allowing me to be changed
To be tested
You allow me to be Your masterpiece
All my impurities and flaws burned out

Sometimes we must burn before God can make us beautiful
God teaches us lessons in quiet moments
It is up to us to listen and to learn

DEEP Sabbath

*T*wo cultures united as one was the theme for D.E.E.P. (Diversity Enhancement Exchange Program) Sabbath 2005. On November 5, 2005 close to 250 Oakwood College students visited the campus of Southern Adventist University.

On D.E.E.P. Sabbath Oakwood students were warmly welcomed by Southern student government officers. On arrival, they were greeted with a small breakfast and big smiles. The day continued with an interactive Sabbath school and a church service filled with praise and worship. Afterwards, Southern continued the hospitality by inviting Oakwood students to visit their cafeteria.

“We had a great experience meeting new people, participating in a blessed church service, and becoming more aware of a different colleges environment. We really enjoyed ourselves and would galdy go to D.E.E.P. Sabbath again!”, said Bianca Andrews and Jonathan Pate. D.E.E.P. Sabbath is always an experience students will never forget!

Testimony ?

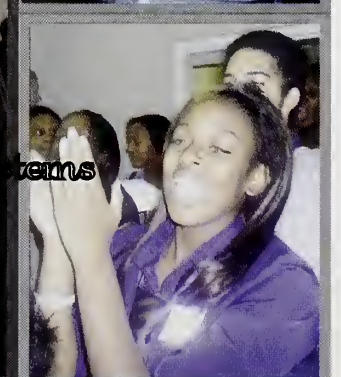

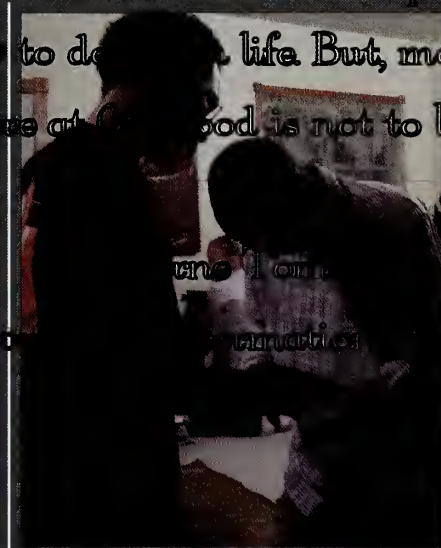

"Oakwood is a humbling experience. It helped me realize how selfish I can be in my everyday life. It helped me understand how much we don't appreciate what God can do for us."

"Oakwood has changed me... helped me learn more about myself, my weaknesses & strengths. Oakwood has helped me better express myself. It has shown me how to relate to other people."

"Oakwood has shown me how to deal with life. But, most importantly, it has shown me that everything I'm doing here at Oakwood is not to be successful, but to be a testimony."

October 26, 2005

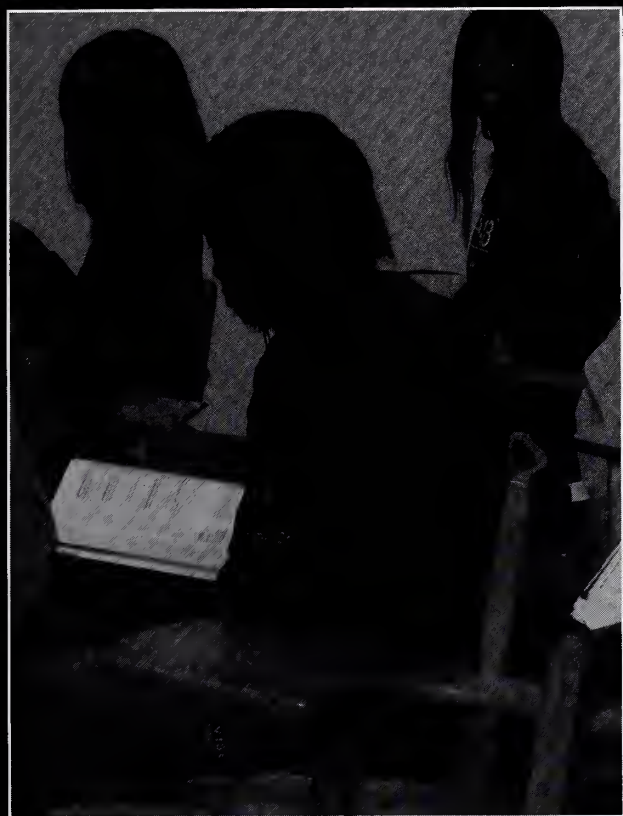

Today has been so stressful. I have a DEPARTMENTAL EXIT EXAM and a NETWORKS midterm that I have not had time to study for. Since I had an hour break, I went to Barnes and Noble to read over study guides that they had for finance, accounting, management, marketing, and macro/microeconomics. I skimmed through some of them and if I had more time they probably would have really helped me, but oh well no need to be worrying about it now.

Then of course after that I had to go to work and oh I was so excited about that. I'm thinking, what am I doing at work when I have two exams to study for? It always seems like whenever I have a really long day and have things I need to do after I get off, its one of those nights that everyone wants to get some food like 10 minutes before close. So yeah I was there all night.

I have just finished reading over my quizzes from class for networks. I don't know if that did any good, but I'm too tired to do anything else. Now I'm home writing this journal entry about how my life is so stressful and I need to start praying because tomorrow is something serious. At least when I lose my mind my parents will know why, just joking. I'm getting off track back on to the point of this entry, I have to pass this test to graduate, and it would be so embarrassing to fail this test. That really would not be good.

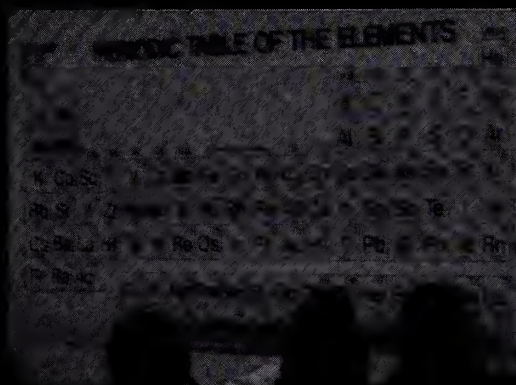

Elements of Life

NaCl , $\text{Al}_2(\text{SO}_4)_3$, KOH , and CuSO_4 c. Most of us will never know (or really care) what this means. But to the Chemistry major this is life or death, success or failure. Chemistry majors will eventually build their lives off of various formulas and equations. It's these equations that start your car, add flavor to your food, and even create weapons of mass destruction. Now whether or not they're creating doomsday devices, they're our Chemistry majors and we love them.

Harmonious tendencies tune the hearts away from the hum-drum spinning around this musical Mecca. The sound of Grammys, Stellers, and Doves awards the ear with pride. Which Way?

Classes end, graduation commences, the excitement fades away, friends are gone, and this proud college graduate has no clue what steps to take to get to the unknown goal of my life. Perplexity overwhelms me:

Here I stand, again, at the crossroads in my life.

My feet don't move ... can't move, but are pulled in every direction.

Like a statue grounded in a cement block, I analyze the roads of life.

I scream my futile agitation with lips tightly sealed.

My dilemma is my own.

I breathe its scentless odor, pungent within me.

There is no escaping what I must do.

If only I could stay frozen in my comfort zone of indecision.

But, the immense hand of time has its palm on my back, shoving me forward.

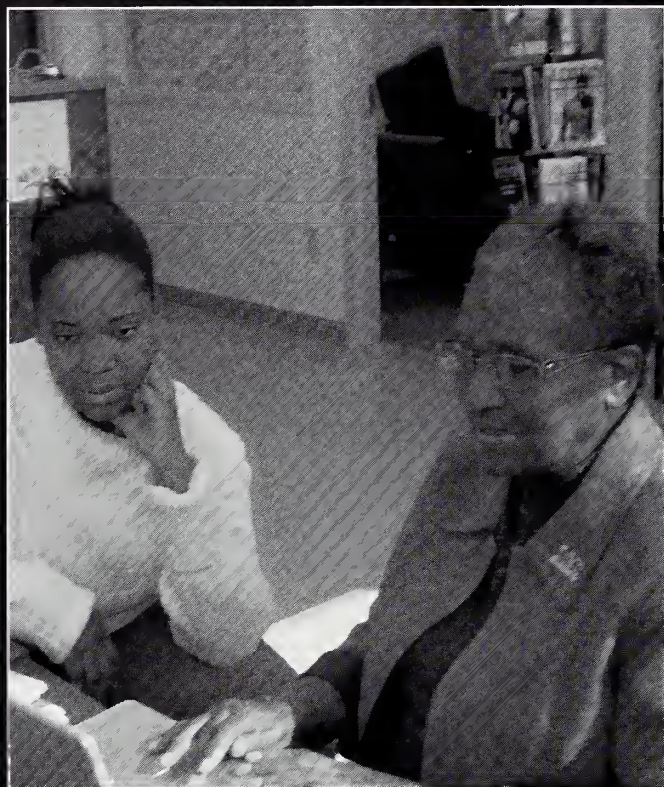

I have to choose!

Quickly, which way?

Time will push me forward and over the cliff of uselessness to be broken and torn on the jagged rocks of regret, if I don't make my own decision.

So, here I stand, again, at the crossroads in my life, begging the question:
Which way? Which way?

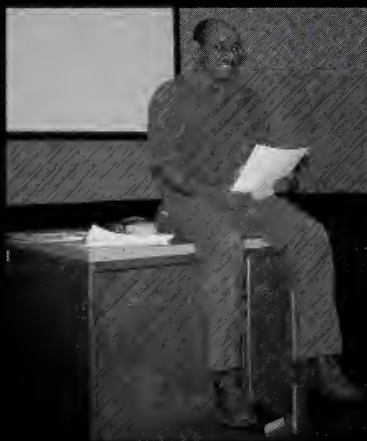

Learning To Teach

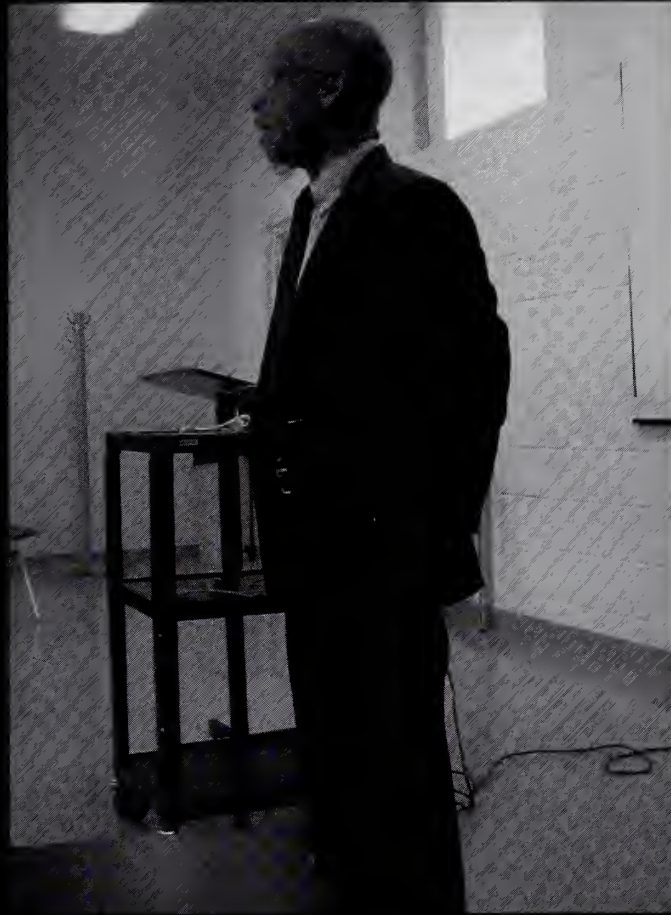

I believe the children are the future, so who will teach them well so that they can lead the way? Caring hands, handle young hearts carefully. Patience is the greatest virtue for their patients. Most students groan at the sound of the word “study.” But as hated as this word might be, it is the only sure way to do well in school. Ok, since we have to study we might as well study effectively. I’ve heard too many horror stories of students studying all night only to fail their tests the next morning. So I’ve compiled a few tips that work well for me:

Study consistently: Most student wait until the last minute to begin studying. The wisest thing is to start studying as soon as the school year begins.

Develop a system of note taking: It’s impossible to write down everything the teacher is saying, however it is important to weed out what portions of the lecture are important.

Relax: Your study time should not be so stressful. Your brain works better when it’s not under stress. It might even be better to have some soft soothing music playing in the background.

Convince yourself studying can be both fun and effecive: With time I’m sure studying can be an enjoyable experience.

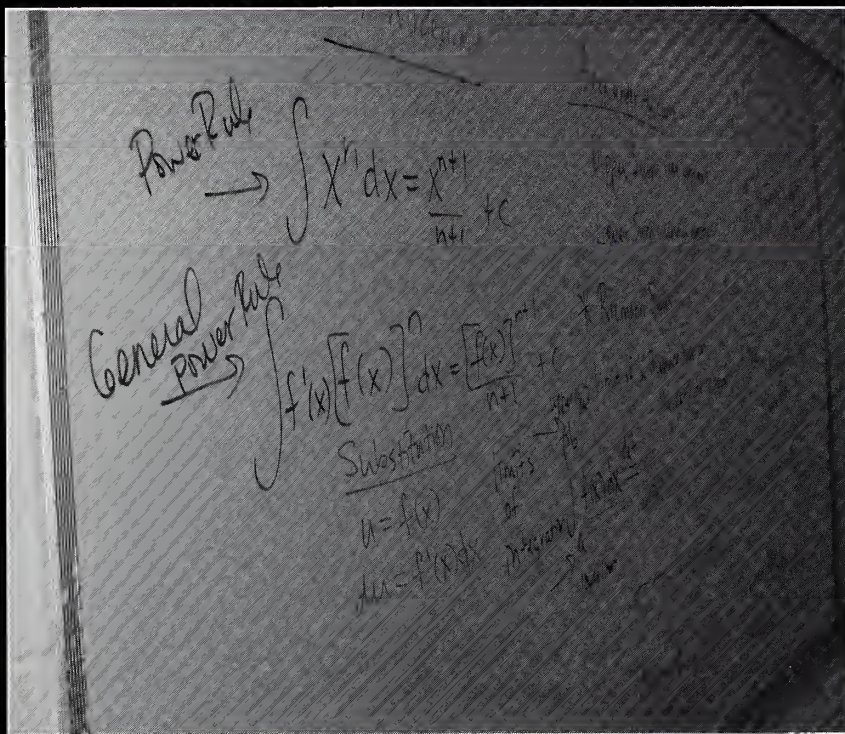

Happy Studying!!

On my way to practice tonight, I thought about why I joined Art & Soul. I wanted to express my unique poetry abilities. There is a wide variety of artists, poets, and interpretive dancers, and all the members are all open to new ideas. I love our performances, club meetings, barbecues, and Saturday chill nights with Def Poetry. I also enjoy the chance to minister when we go to elementary schools and hospitals. The Art & Soul experience has been extremely rewarding and mentally invigorating for me. Anyone who is looking for artistic and poetic expression should join! Well, that's why I love Art & Soul, and practice was great by the way...

I have had the opportunity to live at several dorms since I started at Oakwood College. The first dorm I stayed in was Peterson Hall. Peterson Hall is, now that I look back on it, was a wonderful experience. For me, it's where lasting friendships began and most of all, a place full of unforgettable memories. Ever since I lived there, I have never had to sleep on a bunk bed. Anytime my friends and I needed a ride off campus, we would always call a taxi. Every time there were more than 4 people, we would have to get 2 taxis.

The second dorm I stayed in was Edwards Hall. While staying at Edwards Hall I found that they were a little more lenient. One thing I must say is that the showers were unforgettable. They have ONE shower area with TWO showerheads! I think they messed up with the showerheads. One for the front and one for the back is what it was supposed to have been.

The dorm I stay at right now is the best dorm on Oakwood's Campus. It's called West Oaks. This place feels like I'm at home. I live in a clean environment with a majority of people who are mature. It is nice and quiet so that people can get their work done. Here, I could cook my own meals. I have my own room, my own phone line, and my own key. It's like I live off campus, but I'm really not.

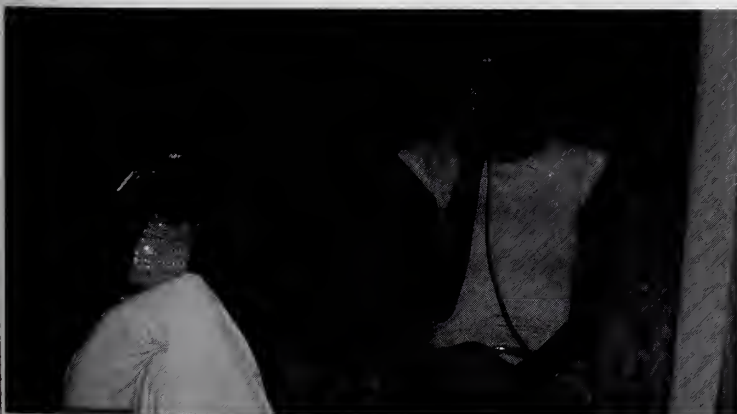

Pick-A-Boo

One of the new USM activities this year was the dating game Pick-a-Boo. Students who wanted to participate were asked to fill out profile forms in the cafeteria a week prior to the big event. On these forms were certain 'questionable' questions.

The student favorite and most answered question was "How do you eat your Reeses?" Another was "How do you wear your K-Swiss?" was another favorite with replies like, "I don't, I wear Jordans."

In the form of traditional game shows, Pick-a-Boo involved a pre-selected student choosing his or her blind date through a series of questions and answers. Freshman Michael Hillard, who had the ladies screaming as soon as he came on stage, asked the question "If we went to an island for our honeymoon, what would we do?" The freshman girl that won his vote responded with "We'd probably spend some time on the beach and then head back to the room...and stay there." Throughout the night male and female names were randomly picked out of a hat and given the option to go on dates together. Hosted by the infamous Michael Moss Pick-a-Boo boasted one of the best turnouts of the Thursday night USM activities.

Student Movement

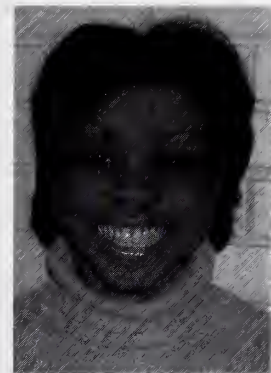

Dear Oakwood College Family:

As we began this journey nine months ago, some were relieved, many were hopeful, and others were apprehensive. After much prayer, the USM officers agreed that, appearances not withstanding, our God id decidedly in control. Joshua 1:9 says "Fear thou not, for I am with thee." Those powerful words became our motto for the 2005-2006 school year—NOTHING TO FEAR! Our USM plans and priorities moved forward in this assurance.

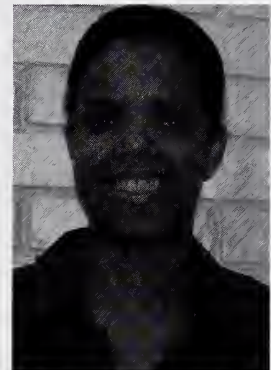

During this past school year, I hope that the campus issues addressed and various religious and social events arranged by the USM have added to your fun, relieved some of your stress, provided avenues of service, and helped you to grow as well rounded students. But the USM officers will have failed miserably if this administration is defined merely by our basketball post-game shows, Apollo night, DEEP Sabbath, the Valentine banquet, and other events. When those memories are long faded, I hope that you will still be standing confidently on the promise that you have NOTHING TO FEAR. I implore you to commit yourself to a life of passionate and joyful service to others through God's whispered assurance that you have NOTHING TO FEAR.

Standing now, between memory and hope, I want to thank the Oakwood College's student body for the great privilege and honor that has been mine to serve as your USM President this year. I end this term wishing you success and God's richest blessings through all the days and years ahead.

Sincerely,
Mark L. Howard, President

Oakwood Students "Agape" Outreach

The small acts of service that Oakwood students shared during the Agape Feast made large imprints in the hearts and minds of the children and teens they met that day. During the week of the Back to School Revival, Spiritual Emphasis Day was held on Wednesday. On that day Oakwood college students ventured out into the Huntsville community visiting local schools spreading some "Agape love!" With topics such as "Knowledge is Power", "Say No to Drugs" and "AIDS is real" Oakwood students thoroughly informed the young students about issues that are slowly killing their generation as well as on issues that could lead them to a better future.

Each department was assigned a different school in the community. Fernand Samson a junior Biology major, whose department visited Johnson High school, says about his experience, "It was great! I wasn't too sure about what to expect, especially since I was told that we were going to a tough school. But I had a great time, and I really felt like I made a difference."

Drama presentations were one avenue that the Biology department used to relay their presentations. One of the topics they addressed was about how important a college degree is in life

The Communications department's skits and songs were used by to emphasize the importance of sharing and team work. They were a big hit with the elementary students. Michael Vance a Communications major visited Oakwood Elementary and says about his experience, "I know we made a huge impact on the kids we met because when we finished our skits the kids didn't want us to leave, and the feeling was mutual because I also had a great time."

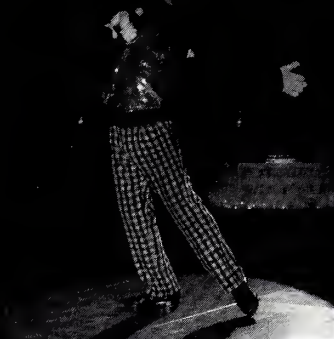

September 7, 2005

Enter to Learn Depart to Serve is the aim of this institution. Service is what Oakwood College pushes for every student to participate in and also enjoy. Life is more fulfilling when helping others and this was proven during the Agape Feast. Reaching others with love is what Christianity is all about.

Oakwood students really showed the community their definition of love through their act of time and service. Brandon Williams a Junior Music major says, "Life is short so during my time here on earth I want to make a difference by lending my abilities and knowledge to others through service. This experience was great and I hope to do it again next year."

Daughters of the King

Adrianne Artis

Born and raised in Chicago, Illinois, Adrianne Renee' Artis is a junior Biology major involved in many organizations, including the Acrostars Gymnastics Team, G.A.M.E., and Oakwood BioMedical Association. To follow the college creed and depart to serve, she plans to become a physician with a walk-in health clinic in her community. To Adrianne, Daughters of the King means, "we recognize that God, our Father, is king. Therefore we can embrace his blessings and promises as royalty."

Krystle Forde

Krystle S. Forde is a New Yorker born on the "Twin Islands" of Trinidad and Tobago. In hopes of becoming the U.N. Secretary General, Crystal plans to go to Harvard Law School after completing her degree in Marketing. After dedicating some time in service with NAPS, she has returned to Oakwood College for her junior year. Crystal believes that a Daughter of the King is "a woman who understands her worth and is determined to show the world her God-given potential of excellence."

Interviews - Gabrielle Barnes

Fedoría Rugless

Born in Berrien Springs, Michigan to Jamaican parents, Fedoria now claims both Alabama and Tennessee as her home states. A Biomedical Science major electing both Chemistry and Music as her minors, Fedoria aspires to become a Pediatric Neurosurgeon. The O.C. Camerata, Oakwood Biomedical Association, and HelpLine Charity Association are just a few of the extracurricular activities that she is involved in. Fedoria believes that as Daughters of the King, "we are royalty, chosen by God...and have a role and standard of excellence to maintain in honoring the majesty of the Almighty King".

Sasha Crockwell

Shortly after her birth in Savannah, Georgia, Sasha Kimal Crockwell moved to the beautiful island of Bermuda, which is her home. Sasha is an active participant in such organizations as G.A.M.E. and the Education Club. A junior English Language Arts Education major, Sasha hopes to continue on to get her Master's and Doctorate degrees and return to her alma mater, Bermuda Institute. Sasha says "Women should realize that they have the potential to be and do anything. . . they have a duty to carry themselves in a manner in accordance with God's word so that the world may know that they are Daughters of the King."

Natalie Heath-Singletary

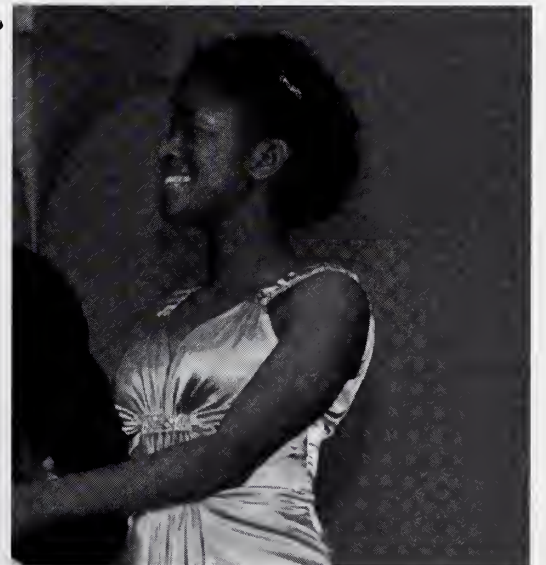

After living in several states including Florida and Michigan, Natalie Denise Heath-Singletary made the "Lone Star" state of Texas her home. As a Psychology major, she is motivated in pursuing a career in Forensic Psychology focusing on the rehabilitation of juvenile sex offenders after obtaining her Doctoral degree from Howard University. This junior is involved in many campus organizations including Dynamic Praise gospel choir and G.A.M.E. Natalie states, "As Daughters of the King, we are to claim the promises that our heavenly Father has bestowed upon us and live up to the full potential that He demands of us."

Toni-Ann Wright

Born on the beautiful island of Nassau Bahamas to Jamaican parents, Toni-Ann Elizabeth Wright is now a "Southern Belle" claiming Nashville, Tennessee as her home. A junior Biomedical Science major, Toni-Ann is an aspiring Pediatrician. She is a very active participant in the Oakwood Biomedical Association, RISE-I-CARE and Alabama Lois Strokes Alliance for Minority Participation programs. Toni-Ann says that "our Father, the King, has our best interest at heart and, recognizing ourselves as his daughters, we should carry ourselves as royalty."

Daughters of the King - Miss Oakwood Pageant 2006

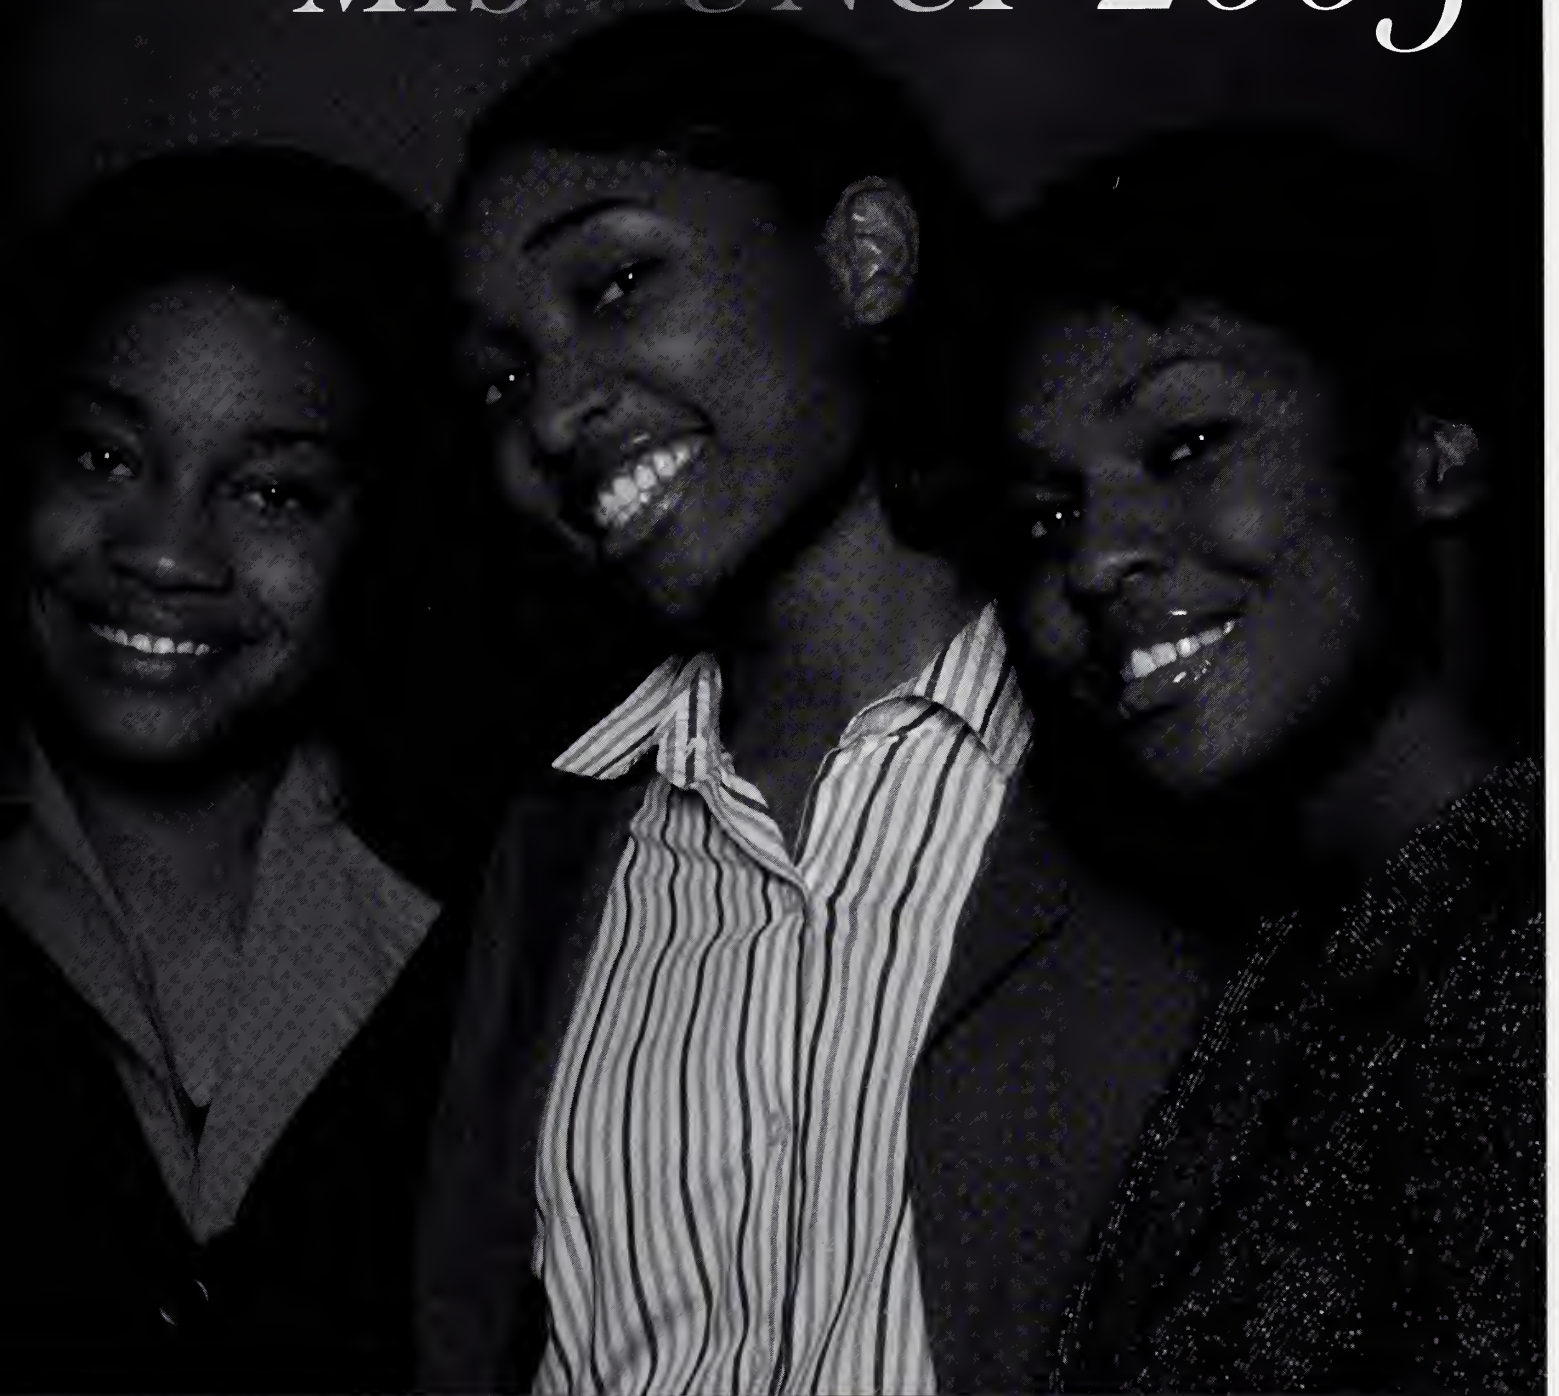

This year's Miss Oakwood Pageant celebrated the Oakwoodite woman as a Daughter of the King. The musical selections of the evening were well placed and beautifully chosen. Between segments and talents, a live band wooed the crowd with pleasant renditions of gospel and jazz selections. Jasmine Jacobs' piece, "In My Daughter's Eyes", was especially poignant and further distinguished the importance of the night's theme. Victor Acquah inspired both daughters and sons of the King to go the distance, not giving up hope until we reach our goals. As for the talent segment this year, a variety of new ideas hit the stage including a mix of acrobatic and interpretative dance, a reggae anthology on the steel drum, and even ribbon twirling! Overall the evening was a success on the part of Oakwood College's Student Activities Department, crowning Krystle S. Forde as Miss Oakwood 2006.

A day in the life of an Ambassador

As a member of the Oakwood Ambassadors basketball team, I take many different steps in practice to prepare for a game. During practice I make sure I give 110% to make sure I am well prepared for the game. They say, "The way you practice is the way you play," so I make sure I practice hard so I can play just as hard. In practice I shoot a certain amount of free throws, three pointers, and lay-ups. I also run sprints, suicides, and laps around the gym to complete a day's workout or practice.

As a team the Ambassadors start out by stretching. After we finish stretching we conduct lay-up lines and do some conditioning by running suicides, relays on the court, and sprints. After we finish running we work on our offensive and defensive plays. Finally we conduct an array of shooting drills to conclude practice, and we huddle up to get last minute tips and get our minds right for the upcoming game.

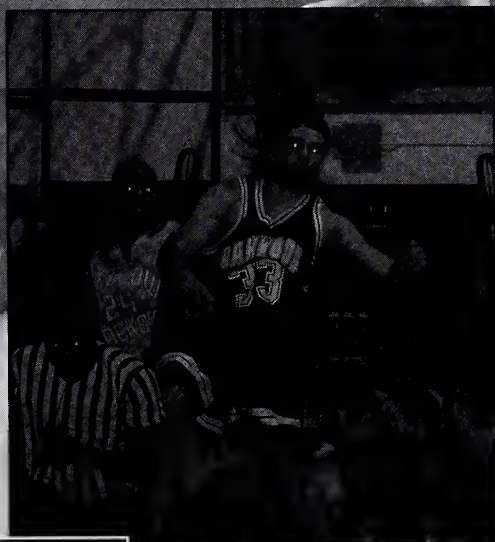

"Watching our team play,
I must agree with the common trend of thought
- they do play hard.

and, (you

Journey's End

Senior year is full of Moments to savor, enjoying great times with friends and taking the very last tests of the year. It is a year full of Moments that needs to be cherished because you will never again have this experience.

For every senior, the most anticipated and savored Moment is Graduation. It is the cornerstone representing the end of a long journey, but also the beginning of a new phase in our lives.

Tuesday, September 6, 2005

At 9:23 this morning, I called Student Services about eight times to see how many units I needed to be excused from chapel. Finally accepting my fate, after adding up my units for the third time, I started making breakfast before heading off to chapel. A freshman stopped by to borrow my Mass Communications book for the semester. I found it smashed between my OC 101 workbook and an old mugbook. How come we don't have those things anymore?

I made it to chapel at around 10:04 and had to beg the woman at the door to please let me swipe my ID. She graciously agreed and once inside, I was astonished to discover that everyone looked so much younger than me. I searched high and low to find one of my friends who actually made it to chapel.

After chapel, I headed back to West Oaks and made a to-do list in my head. At the top of my list was Spanish 101 with Professor Josh Williams. I remembered to make a mental note to self to stop calling him "Josh" by accident in class, and call him "Professor Josh" or "Mr. Josh" like he requested. Wasn't he just our AY leader? Now he's my Spanish teacher? Then I made a quick u-turn to sign up last minute for the English Proficiency Exam. It was then that I realized, at 11:12 AM that I am a graduating senior.

October 10, 2005

When I ask myself to come up with my most memorable Senior moment, it was quite hard. But, when I asked myself to think of a moment that defined me as being a senior that was actually quite simple. The moment that stuck out in my mind the most was the fourth of July weekend. I decided to go home and visit. I am from Atlanta, GA. Even though I only stay about 3 hours and some change away I do not get home often, so when I do come to visit it's a spectacle. So I go home that weekend to see my family and go to church that Sabbath. After church a lot of individuals that have not seen me in quite some time asked how are things going? I give the normal reply just trying to keep my head above water you know. Then he states, "So you still at Oakwood?" and I say yeah of course too late to transfer besides I like it there (laughing). Then he states "You have what, two more years of school right?" I felt disrespected; I looked at him and said, nah I'm a senior I'll be out in the spring. He was like, "Stop playing, you joking right? It could not have been 4 years that fast." I replied and said, Sure has been four years, and that's when it really set in that I was a senior.

These Were The Years

From the snackbar to IDs ... oh how many things have change.

-Stephanie Jones and Dayna Mitchell

2002 was the year, August was the month. We were finally here at the school of the prophets. We stepped onto the hallowed grounds of Oakwood College purposed, determined and most of all ... parentless! We had finally arrived. After we conquered the endless pit called "registration", we bade our guardians farewell and embarked on an unknown four-year journey. There we were ... full of spunk, promise nad potential. Who knew who we would become and what we could accomplish? The possibilities were endless.

It took us awhile to acclimate ourselves to college life. It also took Oakwood a bit of time to get ready for us. Let's see, hmmm ... Upon our arrival, our beloved snackbar was under renovation, West Oaks was still a work in progress, the "Eternal Flame" hadn't been built or lit, AY was held in the skating rink,

"Thanks OC
for the best four years of our lives!"

voice mail was FREE, Health Services and WOCCG were a hop, skip and jump away, there was more than one drama group on campus (whatever happened to Oye?)

our ID's were vertical rather than horizontal, summer grads were allowed, and there was no constant reminder of service illustrated by Simon of Cyrene helping Jesus carry the cross in Centennial Square.

Influential campus leaders at the time like, Fred Warfield, then USM President, Noah Washington, the AY leader, and others like David Franklin, Lakeisha Bonner, Martin Lister, and Terry-Ann Griffin paved the way for the dynamic leaders of the class of 2006. There were some bumps along the way, however. If you were one of the three people that attended the sophomore class election of 2003, then you know what I mean! Fortunately, we built momentum and took the campus by force this past fall. With Jerrick Warren as our leader (and God as his!) we're prepared for our best year yet.

Whew! The years have flown by and as we leave these grounds with our diplomas and innumerable memories in tow; we know we'll never be able to repay "the oaks" for the lessons we're taking with us. We've had the Oakwood Experience, made invaluable friendships, and learned more about ourselves than we could have ever guessed we would have. Thanks OC for the best four years of our lives!

Smoothies

Remember when... The smoothie bar was in the cafe' and was free? It was Freshman year, 2002, when we stepped into the walls of the infamous cafe' of Oakwood College. There was the usual lunch line, with the variety of foods too meet everyone's needs in the front. On the left, was the juice line and on the right, was the SMOOTHIE BAR. There was an array of different flavors to choose from: banana, vanilla, orange, etc. Of course the best part about the SMOOTHIE BAR was that it was free!

Friendships for a Lifetime

They say you find your best friends in college...
-Darnelle Lubin

It is said that the best four years of one's life are in undergrad. It is a time where almost everything has a new beginning. A time to find who you are, start living by your own rules and maybe even fall in love. I'm sure that all these things are true, but here at Oakwood College, finding lasting friendships is a major part of the OC Experience. As a freshman, your friends are hand picked and a bond is created that will last beyond the college years, and well into life. Friendship is an aspect of life that some take for granted, when it is a treasure and should be revered as such.

"..finding lasting friendships is a major part of the OC Experience"

For us seniors, the last four years represent four years of growth, endurance, and opportunity. Not only from an academic standpoint, but a social one as well. It was a time we learned through life-altering experiences. A time of endurance, when friendships will sustain you through trying times when you want to give up. It presented us with an opportunity to explore uncharted waters of another's world with hidden dangers to encounter and buried treasure to discover.

For us, graduation day will be both the happiest and the saddest day of our lives. Our hearts will be filled with gladness because we will have completed our journey only to begin another one, but a sense of sadness will also reside. Even for a short while, saying goodbye is so hard to do. You are used to spending time with your buddies down the hall, in the café, at social events, on weekend trips, or in class. To have to leave that all behind is a sad situation. Friendship is not really about having someone to chill with, but about a witness that you can give and in return receive a friend for a lifetime.

The Mugbook

Remember when... The last mugbook was printed. To most students it was their second Bible. Some had 2 or 3 in their possession. If someone wasn't known to you, you could just whip out your mugbook and find out who they were instead of looking at the same freshmen online or not having one at all. It was so easy and convenient. Whatever happened to the actual Mugbook?

Future Moments

Ashley Hudson

Q: What are your future career aspirations?

A: Pediatric Ophthalmologist in the near future.

Q: Why did you choose Ophthalmology?

A: I have has always been fascinated by all tools involved in Ophthalmology. The summer after my freshman year at Oakwood, I got to follow an Ophthalmologist around. I did research and got to see cases on young children. After reading those cases it put a weight on my heart to help kids with vision impairments.

Q: Where did your desire to help others come from?

A: This need to want to help others derives from what I have found at Oakwood College. I found a personal relationship with God and a lot of professors who look out for me and even on opportunities for me to get ahead".

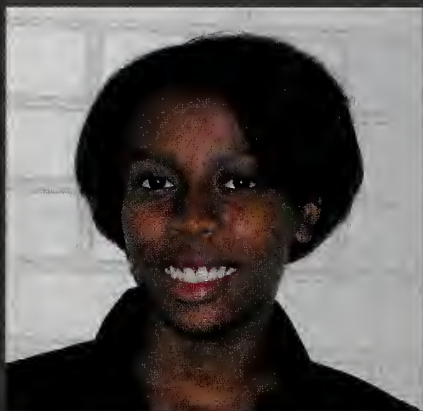

I hope that others would say that I knew how to make them feel better and that they saw Jesus in me.

2004-2005 Moment

Eternal Flame

Remember when... The Eternal Flame was built? It was dedicated by the Class of '04. It was supposed to represent the Holy Spirit's presence on campus. It shined through the rain, snow, hurricanes, and hail. It would never stop burning... unless it was summertime.

President's Message

On May 13, 2005, another chapter of our lives will be sealed. At the preface of our matriculation, we were filled with anticipation and yearned for a new beginning. From our inception, we initiated "Appointed", took charge of the USM Senate, and revamped the Pre-Alumni Council. We didn't stop there; before long the campus was filled with our concerts, poetry and fashion shows, art pieces, and original organizations. We have always been and continue to dominate as an extraordinary class. Over the years we solidified our professional callings and created our own ministries. Our Oakwood experience has brought us through laughter and tears, joys and disappointments, successes and failures. In the midst of the constant drama from our peers, pressure from our parents and fear from within, we still were able to find God. Week after week, Pastor Doggette, Pastor Nixon and the late Pastor Humphreys led us in surrendering our souls to God. Over time, we realized that the Oakwood experience had less to do with what we would do to change this place and more to do with allowing the God that dwells in this place to change our hearts. Therefore, in the last moments of our precious memories, I admonish you to take hold of the Master's hand, for with Him as your center you will never be lost. Remember your focus, initiate your ministry. Class of 2006, God is not done with us yet.

Future Moments

Esther Haugabrooks

Q: What are your plans post-Oakwood?

A: At this point in my life my future plans are unclear, but I want to make sure that my life is correct with the Lord so that whatever I do in the future will be in sync with His will.

Q: What lessons has Oakwood taught you over your times here?

A: I'm not a patient person, but Oakwood has definitely taught me patience. And I have gained independence as an individual and dependence on God.

Q: How would you like to be remembered?

A: I would want for people to say that I was a kind and genuine person, and not for what I had but for the kind of person that I was.

2005-2006 Moment

Bat Chapel

Remember when... (Well, the few of us that go to chapel will) The famous bat flew around the church in the middle of chapel? It was the best chapel ever. And after all the commotion of someone chasing the bat down and catching it, the speaker just kept right on talking like nothing happened. We should have bats at every chapel.

Victory Lap

A vet on the track and there's no turning back.

Our fourth year and running lets take a victory.

For each year that the Lord helped to see that we were financially cleared.

For the fact that graduation is finally here.

For the friendships made that will last a lifetime.

For 110 credits and no more chapel times.

For off-campus housing and no more dormitory living.

For our last time away from family on birthdays and Thanksgiving.

Memories to be kept forever of our Oakwood College Senior year

A year that taught is to focus and forever persevere.

What a summer... I just got back from a trip to Laguna Beach and Hollywood. I've been out here before, but never like this. It's almost impossible to think that I am all the way out here doing cancer research. I never knew research was like this. It takes so much to develop cures for disease. I've been out here in Loma Linda for a month and I love every minute of it. I have met so many great new people and made so many friends out here. I've traveled all around, so Cal and I even got to live through a couple of earthquakes...lol. I've learned so much about my profession. I feel like everything that has happened so far wouldn't have happened if it weren't for Oakwood. My eyes have been opened to so much. I never could've imagined being on the other side of the country doing cancer research.

Man, what am I doing??? I need to get packing. The Aeolians are singing for the General Conference in St. Louis. I feel like a star, they are flying me out and paying me to go sing at an event that I really wanted to go to anyway...We are going to be broadcast all over the world and I know that this is a once in a lifetime experience in itself. This summer has been the summer of a lifetime. I am so grateful for the doors that have been opened for me. I feel like I finally found what I want to do with my life. I can't wait to get back to the OC to tell everyone about my summer.

Making A Difference

-Alina Mitchell

Imagine yourself twenty years from now. You are established in your career, you have a family, a luxurious home, and the car that you always wanted. The time has come for you to return to Oakwood College for Alumni Weekend. You see all of your friends from the years before and even some professors that you might have taken. Memories of Oakwood start to replay through your mind. "What people come to mind?" "What events or activities did you enjoy?" Most importantly, "What difference did you make?"

The Class of 2007 has made it a mission to make an impact on Oakwood's campus for the future years to come. With the mission, "Through unity and fellowship, the class of 2007 will make an impact on the lives of the campus and local community through their service, time, and dedication", this class has taken action beyond the call of duty to change the lives of people around them.

With the theme, "Uniting Together to Change Things Forever," the purpose driven Junior Class made its presence known. Starting off with the Junior Weekend, this class was able to show unity among each other through this exciting weekend of events including: Church Service at Moran Hall, Junior Dinner, and a Junior Skating Party.

Sacrifice and Service are no strangers to this dynamic class. Through time and dedication they made a positive influence in the local community by sponsoring a "Teddy Bear Drive" for the Huntsville Children's Hospital for the Christmas Holidays and a culture-enriching Black History Program for the children at Montview Elementary School.

Ending the year off with the elegant and sophisticated Black and White Affair showed this classes determination to represent themselves with poise and grace.

Through service, unification, and sophistication, The Class of 2007 aims to touch as many lives as possible during their term at Oakwood College. When you come back to this school many years from now, these will be the memories that count. It is what you do for others that makes the difference.

You know there are times when it seems like you can't make it through

Although God is right there helping you

You cry and pray just to make it through a day

Don't you know God is making a way?

Letting go you finally realize you made it safe and sound

No harm anywhere around

You can look back and laugh now

But back then you didn't know how

You ponder to yourself...

"When did the storm pass?"

You didn't even know how long it would last

God in his infinite mercy has made you realize

The grass can be greener if you look through His eyes

So now you know

God is never a no show

He is always looking out for His children

Like a Shepard searching for a lost sheep

Searching and searching until He finds exactly what he left behind

So next time it seems just a bit too much for you to handle

Give it to God. He can help with even the biggest scandal

So all who hear listen as I say this loud and clear

Have no fear. God is always there

Sophomore year . . . realizing the Moment.

a page from the journal of Nehemiah Mabry

January 30, 2006

Wow. Today I was thinking that sophomore year is the time you find out what it really feels like to be "in college". No longer are you a new comer to the whole challenge of managing time while balancing your academic and social lives. Also, you're not filled with the overshadowing anticipation of graduation that comes with the later years. This year I've been able to sit back and really enjoy this experience that I will soon be calling, "the best times of my life."

Sophomores: The Transition Part One

Lisa Hall

There's something magical about the two semesters following freshman year. You find yourself thinking ahead and setting goals for yourself, you become more responsible, and you actually attend more classes than are required to avoid an FA. You think about your future, where you want to be 5 years from now; start looking around for potential mates, become more independent, and start gaining respect from your parents. You come to realize the difference between 5 minutes and 20, an hour to yourself is the most precious gift you can receive, and the value of a dollar takes on a whole new meaning. When asked freshman year, "If you could have an infinite supply of something, what would you want?" you replied, "money". When asked sophomore year, you replied "sleep". What is it about sophomore year that changes life forever?

My thoughts for today...

I like being secure of my place on this campus. I like talking with upper classmen about how Oakwood has changed - even from just last year. I smile at freshman who ask what time lunch starts or which teacher to take for a particular class. I love the fact that I know my way up, down and around Huntsville and can give directions to others. Mostly I enjoy being able to walk around campus and know people - students and faculty alike, and be known in return. You know, feeling like I belong here.

Sophomores: The Transition Part Two

- Lisa Hall

Personal Views on the Transition

Sherene Samuels: As a freshman, you don't have to really think about anything but the day to day stuff - you don't have to plan ahead. As a sophomore, classes are harder; you have more responsibilities; and are less carefree. You learn how to make life easier for yourself; asking for help from upperclassman and faculty rather than relying on yourself. Sophomore year you realize you have to start making plans about your future, and you actually begin to look forward to life after Oakwood. Parents start to view you differently - they tell you how much you have matured and start treating you like an adult. Socially, freshman year it's exciting to see all the new faces and meet new people. But sophomore year is when you make a lot of friends, and form closer relationships with people. As a sophomore, there are fewer surprises, and you know how everything works, you feel like an upperclassman.

Melanie Slocumb: The process of going from being a freshman to becoming a sophomore involves some drastic changes. As you move out of your general and into your major courses and classes are much more difficult. These courses are to prepare you for your future career and you have to take them seriously. Spiritually, you grow and you start going to worship, not just for the credit, but for yourself. Socially freshman year, you were shy but friendly, and you had the time to hang out. Sophomore year you become more outgoing and now you're comfortable meeting new people, but everyone is busy and running in their own directions. One of the most important things you learn after freshman year is to attend chapel and worships, because the fines hurt.

Finals are in exactly one week. Am I ready? Uh...the Semester has seemed to go by faster than I expected. Next thing I know, I will have completed my Freshmen year at Oakwood College. So...the matter of concern now is my grades and how much each final is worth. Worries set in as all this "greatness" comes before me. So now I take each day at a time, attempt to study, and enjoy the rest of their semester.

Until next time (If there is one)

Faculty

Leading the way

Teaching, if you don't do it for the Moments then why do it at all? It's why you deal with disrespectful students, and being underpaid. When it's all said and done it doesn't matter whether or not there are fancy letters before or after your name. All that matters are those brief, profound Moments when your student's face finally lights up with understanding. That is your Moment.

President's Message

Dear Students:

This year made history and you were a part of it. Why? Because during Year 2005-2006 we realized a number of key accomplishments for Oakwood College.

This year the first graduate program proposal, a Masters in Pastoral Studies in the Religion and Theology Department, was submitted to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS). This represents a significant paradigm shift in the history of Oakwood College and will facilitate us in achieving the next level of higher education and progress toward university status.

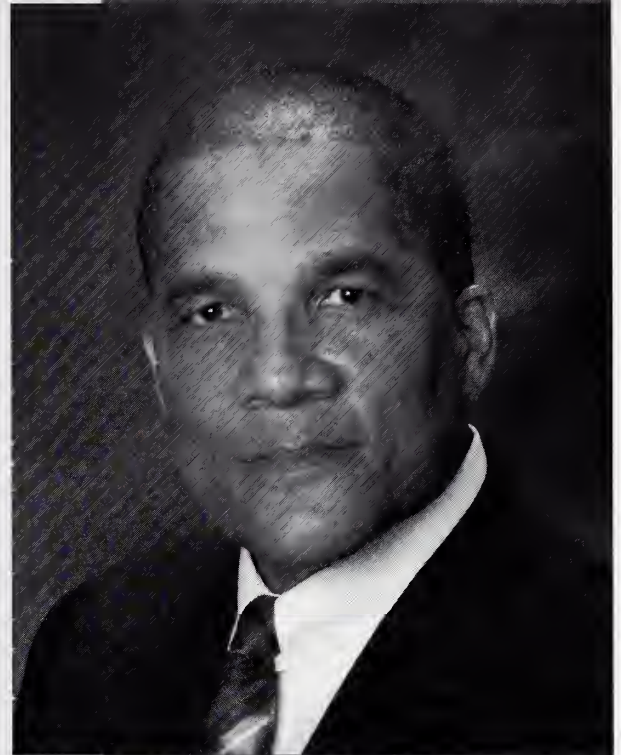

This year was also significant because of the culmination of the Monument To Service, a dream that began nearly seven years ago. Its completion represents a 24-7-365 witness and visual representation of the value and character-producing aspects inherent in the mission of Oakwood College.

The story of Christ, the Cross, and Simon of Cyrene will be a lasting witness of how we can become Christ's hands of service to a world in need. This should become the indwelling motivation of our daily and professional lives. It can be your personal break-through to the next level of sacrificial service, and your part in the historic legacy of what Oakwood College is about. As you reflect on the memorial prompted by this yearbook, you can be thankful.

I wish you the very best in blessings, success, and prosperity.

Your friend,

Delbert W. Baker

Singing is something I enjoy. When I came to Oakwood College I had already sang in two trios and two choirs. When I got here one of the girls that I sang with was starting a trio. We were known as the "Ladies Trio." That young lady decided that she wanted to go solo, so JoAnn Bushner replaced her. I auditioned and made it into the College Choir under the directorship of Dr. Eurydice Osterman. JoAnn and the other young lady, Marsha Draggan had auditioned and made it into the Aeolians. The person who played for us Darrell Alexander was also in the Aeolians. They said "Anita audition." I said okay.

The night of auditions I was very nervous. We were required to fill out an information form/application. When I was told it was my turn to sing, I walked on the stage and realized I couldn't remember the song I was singing. So I asked Mrs. Alma Blackmon to look on the form and tell me the title of the song I was singing. She said you don't remember the song? I said no. She told me the title. I said oh, ok. I was still drawing a blank, so I asked her to give me the first line of the song. I started singing and saw friends who encouraged me to sing, Gerald and Brian Bedney, and their cousin Ronald Woodfork. As I sang they sat next to Mrs. Blackmon and talked to her. During the song I got motions from one saying you made it, and the other mouthing "you're in."

I had to await the results. I was nervous and very anxious. I found out that I had made it. I was really excited. My friends who were in the audience encouraging me were excited. They all were saying things like, we are going to have a good time on the trips. Then I said I don't want to be in the Aeolians, I just wanted to see if I could make it. Needless to say, they were not too happy with me.

Graduation 2005

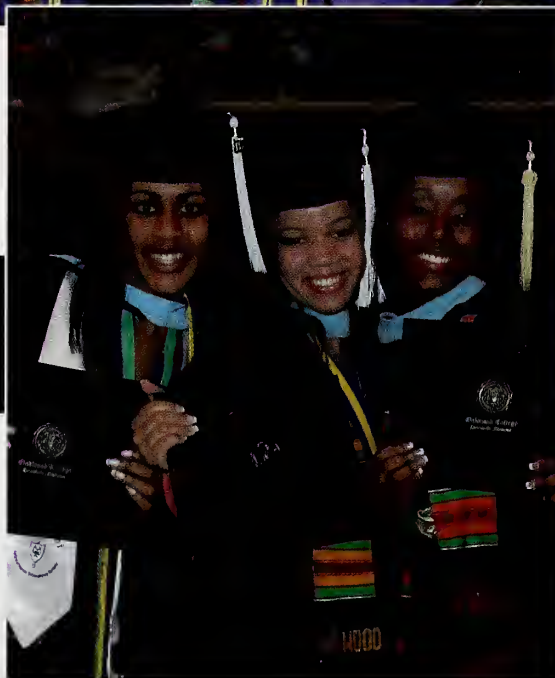

Bill Cleaveland

Former Moments, events of the past, history. At some point all of our memories become former Moments of our lives, but it is us who leave them in the back of our mind to rot and eventually fade away forever. We keep our memories alive by taking pictures, reminiscing with friends, or indulging in a daydream in the middle of class. Whether we laugh or cry when we think of them, they are our Moments, never let them die.

Forever Moments

Bill Cleaveland

May 2005

I have just left a daydream I'm unable to remember. My sight is restored and I see strings of gold hanging from my head. I'm sitting surrounded by a countless number of people who look just like me. I hear my name sounded in the distance by a familiar figure against a spectrum of color. A tear falls from my eye as I am filled not only with uncertainty and anxiety, but hope, happiness and excitement.

My row is called, and I stand to receive that which I have worked hard to achieve, but as I try to move, I am paralyzed by the lack of knowing which path leads to my destiny's journey.

Graduation is defined as "to pass from one stage of experience, proficiency, or prestige to a usually higher one." A graduate is not simply one who has acquired a degree but one who has accomplished a goal of higher learning. College graduation represents, for some, deliverance, for others, a new beginning. And for many, a sense of completion.

It is said to be the best four years of life. Instances that take place at this stage will forever be remembered. It is a time of exploration, discovery, application, growth, and definition. A place a mind is academically challenged, a heart emotionally captivated, and where a soul becomes defined with its true purpose.

Graduation exemplifies a world of instances waiting to be experienced and lessons yearning to be learned. Parents are filled with emotion words can scarcely express as their children now take on responsibility of their own lives going into the world, following an aspiration.

Graduation is a moment of renewal from the transformation that has taken place through time, opportunity and space. A climax in life where an individual takes a dream of becoming a doctor, a business man, a psychologist, a musician, an educator, a pastor, a nurse, or a mathematician, and makes it a reality.

Moments*

May 2005

Your final Moment here on this campus, a great endeavor which has taken you at least four years, and here you are. Despite what they tell you it does somehow feel like more of an ending than a beginning. There will be no more room checks, questionable cafe food (which you ate almost everyday anyway), no more teachers willing to give you one on one help because your class is so small, or those late nights you spent with your friends wasting time. Life will be a little different now. No worse, just different. So take what you have learned here, and unlike everyone else actually try and Depart To Serve.

Final Moment Ending the year

Courtesy Aryn Eddings

Well the year (and this book) has finally come to an end, and for the two or three of you who have actually made it this far after searching for your picture, it is important that you realize that whether or not you enjoyed this year, and no matter what your classification will be in August, you had Moments that will in some way shape your future, don't forget them.

Michael Vance

The year is almost over, gone,

Editor's Message and Thank yous

Wow. What a year. I knew it would be a lot of work, but . . . wow. I'm tired of looking at this book and there's a good chance I won't until I'm in my late thirties. At least twenty hours a week, difficult people, stupid Macintosh computers, inefficient programs, people who promise to do something and never think about it again, are just some of the lovely obstacles my staff and I had to deal with this year and the list can go on, but why focus on the negative? I learned many things this year: 1. Everyone wants their picture in the yearbook but, they refuse to make themselves available. 2. If you leave something for later it doesn't go away, it just comes back when you least expect it. 3. Everyone has an opinion when they don't have to do any of the work. 4. It's sort of funny that I'm too busy chronicling all the events of the year into 250 pages to actually attend them. I know your probably thinking to yourself "Well gee golly Juwanza you sure are venting." And to that I would say I agree. I did this not because I love yearbooks or I have some obsession with putting pictures and words together, but because I promised those who did it before me that I could be trusted to complete the book, and if your reading this I clearly did. You will never hear me say anything I have ever done is so-so or alright so I am proud of my yearbook (yes I'm calling it my yearbook). Now did it come out exactly the way I pictured it over the summer? No. I had big plans for this book. I was going to revolutionize the yearbook world (LOL). But does anything ever come out the way you expect it? This is a good book and I will be annoyed if it does not merit an award. My staff and I worked entirely too hard for anything to be considered sub-par and I appreciate them all. Now having said that there are a few people who deserve a special thank you:

Brittany- Not to sound old or anything but your growth from the beginning of the year to now has been amazing. I often asked you to take huge amounts of pictures in very little time and you never caught an attitude (not that I would have blamed you), you were always smiling and the yearbook would literally be nothing without your contribution.

Dayna, Sabrina, Peter, Alina, Olivia, Ashley, Esther, Camille, and all the other section editors- You guys helped so much it's not even right. You worked hard with limited resources and consistently gave me your all when I needed it. Many of you even offered to help in other areas. Thanks.

Dominique, Lisa, and Whitney- You guys were invaluable to Joy and as a direct result to me. There were many times when I would panic and I ask who was doing this or that and Joy would tell me that one of you were already on it. Thanks so much.

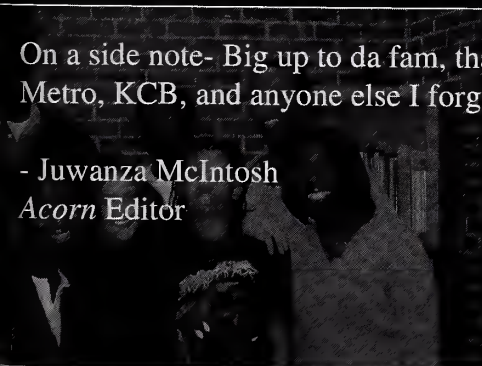

Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Robinson, and Ms. Hyman- Thank you guys for handling the situation so well with a completely new staff. Your experience and leadership is and will always be appreciated.

Damion Miller and Damion Willacy- Thanks so much for willingly providing us with so many amazing pictures.

Joy- Soon after I accepted this job I sat down and wrote out job descriptions. For Asst. Editor I put "Does everything I miss." You took this weak definition to heart. I will never understand why you would come in for hours at a time after your other job. You became me in every single area of the yearbook, from designing pages to dealing with staff, to taking pictures. I would have failed miserably without you. It was you that kept me from going insane when I saw the ridiculous amounts of work that needed to be done. At the very least fifty percent of this is yours. You are the best Asst. Editor ever and to me you will always be "The Man". Thanks.

On a side note- Big up to da fam, that whole Maryland crew, the team M.D.C (we got em next year), Metro, KCB, and anyone else I forgot.

True story. 1998 . . . Came as a freshman with my two best friends and made about 400 more the following weeks! (Carter/3rd Floor/Old Wing . . . before there was A/C) Couldn't afford to stay & therefore, left the following semester to go to cosmetology school in Baltimore. 2000 . . . Graduated and got licensed! 2001 . . . Returned to the 'Ville and canvassed my way back into school. Found Jesus - first time! I changed my major twice. Got my first apartment . . . got robbed . . . got my first car . . .

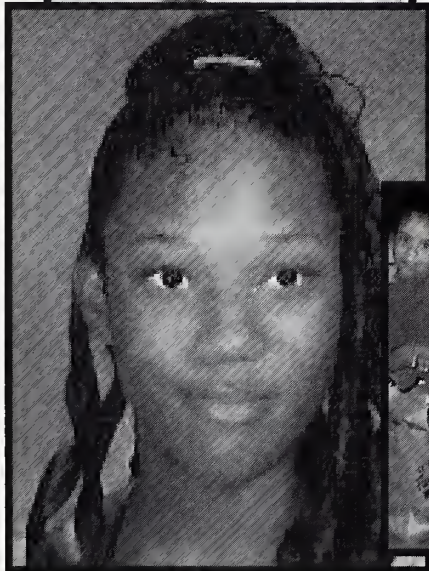

2003 . . . Got a newer car. I sat out for a year and worked (usually a bad idea . . . just get it over with!!!) . . . and then came back. Fell off of a cliff up at Monte Sano and lived to testify with no broken bones at all (imagine jumping off of the balcony of BLAKE CENTER with, no concrete, but jagged rocks and trees to break your fall! After all this, they (we'll leave them unnamed) wouldn't let me graduate. So totally fed up, I did a Kanye West and DROPPED OUT! 2005 . . .

God brought me back by extreme and desperate measures (I'd have to tell you in person)! And NOW, I'm a participating graduate of the Class of 2006! I am actually grateful for the journey. I built character gracefull, beautifully, . . . I made it this far and most importantly . . . FINALLY! From a girl to a woman . . . and you will too!

Dearest Ronie and Darnelle,

First of all, I want to start by thanking God, for His blessing on your behalf and on mine. I thank Him for all His help, patience, and guidance that He has granted me in order to cope with all the obstacles I have met. I especially thank Him for my being here on this earth as we celebrate your college graduation.

It seems almost impossible that four years has come and gone. I am so ever grateful to the Lord for bringing both of you yet through another milestone in life. You have been very good, diligent and devoted in your studies and persevered through trying times. I could not be more proud of your countless accomplishments.

Now you are finished with a college education, I encourage you not to stay here. The world awaits two fearfully and wonderfully made young women with dreams yet to become a reality. Marketing and Music will be changed forever with your bright, energetic, innovative, and one of a kind personalities.

Do not ever abandon your Savior, Your Creator. Rely on Him for everything you need. He will listen and respond to your prayers according to His will. For in Matthew 7:7 & 8, Jesus said, "Ask and it shall be given, seek and you shall find, knock, and it shall be opened unto you."

I love you
I congratulate you,
I am very proud of both of you!
